Man of Steel

Jon yawned and stretched, skin and muscles pulling tight. Showing off? He didn't need to, Richie was the only one there, and Jon had gotten the results he wanted from showing off to Richie long ago.

But that's how Jon always was. "I'm better than you," he said, with everything he did. Richie wanted to slam a knife into the taut line that ran from his bellybutton up along his stomach, see if it'd bounce off. Was it steel under there, or was he human?

Richie knew what Jon wanted him to believe.

He also knew the knife wouldn't bounce.
